

Annex A: Political Balance on Planning Sub-Committees

The tables below set out the political proportionalities on the lowlands and uplands sub-committees if these sub-committee were to be appointed based on political balance rather than ward representation. The total number of seats on the two sub-committees is 25 which assumes that the Chair of the Development Control Committee would be appointed to both sub-committees, as in previous years.

Table 1: Political proportionality on the Lowlands Sub-Committee (13-Member Sub-Committee)

Group	Liberal Democrat	Conservative	Labour	Green	Total
Real entitlement	5.84	3.45	2.65	1.06	13
Rounded entitlement	6	3	3	1	13
Seats allocated	6	3	3	1	13

Table 2: Political proportionality on the Uplands Sub-Committee (12-Member Sub-Committee)

Group	Liberal Democrat	Conservative	Labour	Green	Total
Real entitlement	5.39	3.18	2.45	0.98	12
Rounded entitlement	5	3	2	1	11
Seats allocated	5	3	3*	1	12

*Labour and Co-operative group has the strongest proportional entitlement to an additional seat (0.45) and gain the final unallocated seat on the Uplands Sub-Committee.
